Why a university education?

He aha e ako ai ki te whare wānanga?

Think of a university education as an investment that gives you options and opportunities for your future.

University is also an opportunity for you to

ENGAGE

Me aro

With leading teachers and researchers from a top 3% world-ranked university.

CONNECT

Me hono

Through internships and work placements with employers and industry.

DEVELOP

Me tipu

Specialist knowledge. Critical thinking, research and analytical skills. Communication, interpersonal and information technology skills.

ENHANCE

Me whakapakari

Cultural understanding, global awareness and community involvement.

DISCOVER

Me whakahura

Student life – student groups, clubs and activities.

EXPERIENCE & EXPLORE

Me rongō me rapa

Study abroad and international student exchange programmes.

Choosing a university

Ko tēhea te whare wānanga mōu?

A little planning will help you make the most of the opportunities at university.

All eight New Zealand universities are ranked in the top 3% in the world and offer quality tertiary education and student support – so they're all good options!

Some things you may want to consider:

- What are my interests and strengths? What do I love doing? What are my future goals?
- Which universities offer what I want to study?
- Where is the campus located? Is it in a city, out of town or close to home?
- What is the student population?
- What is the vibe of the university?
- Does the university have all the facilities I'd want?
- Is there university accommodation – Halls of Residence?
- What student support services are available?

A university is a community, offering a range of support services and facilities on campus to enable you to achieve at your best, and to keep you motivated while you're on your study journey. Even if you are considering studying by distance, you still have access to a range of support services.

Facilities and services

- | | | |
|------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| 1 Chaplaincy | 9 Disabilities services | 16 Fees and Finance |

What to study and where?

Ka ako i te aha,
ka ako ki hea?

Universities offer a wide range of subjects to study at undergraduate level. The main undergraduate qualification is called a bachelor's degree and the subject you choose to specialise in is called your major.

We've put together a list of degrees and majors offered at each of New Zealand's eight universities to help you decide what to do and where to go.

Check out our booklet:

Or read it on our website:

Introducing New Zealand universities

Nei ngā whare wānanga o
te motu

New Zealand's eight universities offer a wide range of study opportunities and all are ranked within the world's top 500 (3%).

Studying at a university develops your professional skills along with important life skills such as analysis, critical thinking, communication and innovation. You will use these through your whole career, not just your first job.

Waipapa Taumata Rau, University of Auckland

New Zealand's leading university

Main campus: Auckland City

Other campuses: Newmarket, Epsom, Grafton, Tai Tonga (Manukau) and Tai Tokerau (Whāngarei)

The university is ranked as New Zealand's leading university, with degrees that are world-class and internationally recognised. Auckland's research-led programmes attract a high level of teaching professionals. You will learn from people who are passionate about their chosen fields.

Ākonga Māori

Māori students make up nearly a quarter of our student population, so are visible and actively engaged in all aspects of university life. We have lots of initiatives to support our taura Māori, including Te Kāhui Pirere transition-to-university programme, Te Āhurutanga leadership programme, Māori mentors, scholarships and awards, and even a free bus from our surrounding regions.

Both Waikato campuses offer the only full immersion te reo Māori diploma at a university, Te Tohu Paetahi, which has helped revitalise te reo Māori for 30 years. Our Māori academic staff are internationally recognised leaders in Indigenous knowledge, so you'll be learning from the best.

Our Rōpū Māori are active across campus, leading events that bring new and returning students together, connecting you into the whānau. From the moment you arrive on campus and attend the pōwhiri, through to your official graduation on our university marae, Te Kohinga Mārama, this is a place where you can feel at home.

Ākonga Māori

Te Herenga Waka – Victoria University of Wellington is a global–civic university with our marae at our heart.

The name of our marae – Te Herenga Waka – is the Māori name of the university and means the mooring place of canoes. Located on our Kelburn campus, the marae operates as a community-based marae and a teaching facility. It is currently closed for construction of the Living Pā, which when it opens in 2024 will be one of the most sustainable educational facilities in the world.

The university has a wide range of services to support Māori students, beginning with when you are considering studying in Wellington. The Māori advisers in Te Tari Takawaenga, the Future Students Team, can help you and your whānau with entrance and admission information, course planning and queries about accommodation, grants and scholarships. An orientation programme specifically for new taura Māori will also help ease your transition into university study.

Āwhina, the Māori student support team, works across all campuses and provides a focal point for taura Māori. The Māori Learning Adviser at Te Taiako—Student Learning offers one-on-one sessions and workshops to help you develop your writing, study and assignment skills.

Ngāi Taura, the Māori students' association, represents the interests of all taura Māori at the university. It also runs a range of social and cultural events, as do other subject-based Māori student associations.

Te Herenga Waka – Victoria University of Wellington is committed to Pasifika student success through excellent research, quality teaching and learning experiences, appropriate support and raising Pasifika participation and academic achievement.

The Office of the Assistant Vice-Chancellor (Pasifika) is led by Associate Professor Hon Luamanuvao Dame Winnie Laban DNZM and provides advocacy and support for Pasifika students, enrolment, retention and completion of study.

The Pasifika Student Success Team includes engagement advisers who work across all the faculties. It is the university 'āiga (family) which provides students the necessary tools to navigate their transition into tertiary study, with holistic support, course-specific study sessions, exam preparation, learning and development workshops, and cultural support.

Nau mai, haere mai ki te Whare Wānanga o Waitaha.

UC Māori offers support, advice and guidance for all ākonga Māori studying at Te Whare Wānanga o Waitaha – University of Canterbury (UC).

Led by the whānau at Te Waka Pākākāno – Office of Māori, Pacific and Equity, our initiatives focus on supporting ākonga Māori to succeed academically, while encouraging personal growth and connection to Māori community and culture.

Manaakitanga is important to us. Whether you are thinking about university study or enrolling for the first time, UC Māori can provide you with guidance and support to ensure the study pathway you choose is right for you. We will continue to support you through to the completion of your chosen degree and also offer a range of services and initiatives designed to help you succeed:

- Academic support and guidance.
- Manaaki atu, manaaki mai – pastoral care, support and guidance.
- Tōia Mai – a noho marae experience for first-year ākonga Māori.
- Eke Panuku – our UC Māori Orientation event.
- Paihere – our UC Māori Tuākana-Tāina mentoring and leadership programme.
- Eke Tangaroa – our UC Māori Celebration for Māori graduands and graduates.
- Te Whare Ākonga o Te Akatoki Māori – the UC Māori Students' Study Centre.

Qualifications

University preparation programmes (New Zealand Qualifications Framework Levels 4/5)

All universities have foundation pathways for students who need further English language, academic and study skills preparation before undertaking undergraduate study. Foundation programmes generally run for up to one year of full-time study.

Bachelor's degree (NZQF Level 7)

Normally takes three years (full-time) and consists of a prescribed number of papers or courses. Typically, a bachelor's degree offers a great deal of flexibility and the opportunity for students to choose a programme appropriate for them.

Bachelor's degree with honours (NZQF Level 8)

An integrated four-year programme requiring more specialised study in the chosen major subject and frequently involving some independent research or investigation. You can also later choose to do a one-year programme of honours study following a standard bachelor's degree.

Graduate diploma / graduate certificate (NZQF Level 7)

A graduate diploma is a one-year (full-time) course of study for graduates. Prior learning or experience in the subject matter of the diploma is not always required, giving graduates an opportunity to add a qualification in a different major subject to that of their first degree. A graduate diploma may also be used as a bridging qualification to specialist postgraduate study.

A graduate certificate is a half-year (full-time) course of study.

Postgraduate diploma / postgraduate certificate (NZQF Level 8)

A postgraduate diploma is a one-year (full-time) course of study that builds on the same subject matter in the academic field of a relevant bachelor's degree.

A postgraduate certificate is a half-year (full-time) course of study.

Masters' degree (NZQF Level 9)

Open to those who have completed a bachelor's degree with good grades and comprises one to two years of advanced study in the student's major discipline.

NZQF LEVEL QUALIFICATION TYPE

1–6	Certificates
5–6	Diplomas
7	Bachelor's degrees Graduate diplomas and certificates
8	Postgraduate diplomas and certificates Bachelor's degrees with honours
9	Master's degrees
10	Doctorates

Doctorate (NZQF Level 10)

Normally the highest academic qualification available within a university. The main doctorate is the PhD (Doctor of Philosophy). This degree can be taken in any one of the wide range of subjects and involves original and sustained research under academic supervision. A PhD usually takes at least three years of full-time study.

Conjoint degrees

A specialised programme of study that enables a student to complete two bachelor's degrees in a shortened time.

University Entrance through NCEA

University Entrance (UE) is the minimum standard for entrance to a New Zealand university.

To qualify you'll need:

NCEA Level 3

Three subjects at Level 3, made up of:

- 14 credits each in three approved subjects.

Literacy – 10 credits at Level 2 or above, made up of:

- 5 credits in reading.
- 5 credits in writing.

Numeracy – 10 credits at Level 1 or above, made up of:

- Achievement standards – specified achievement standards available through a range of subjects.

OR

- Unit standards – package of three numeracy unit standards (26623, 26626, 2662 – all three required).

Check out our 'Other admission pathways' page (p36) if you've missed out on UE.

For more information on UE, go to NZQA's website: www.nzqa.govt.nz/ncea

Other school-leaver qualifications

Universities also accept other school-leaver qualifications for admission to an undergraduate degree.

Cambridge Assessment International Examinations (CAIE)

To be eligible for admission, candidates must achieve the following:

Part A

- A minimum of 120 points on the New Zealand CAIE Tariff (refer table) at A or AS Level from any syllabus groups broadly equivalent to those in the list of approved subjects for NCEA

AND

- A D grade or better in syllabuses from at least three different syllabus groups (excluding Thinking Skills).

Part B

Literacy and numeracy must be satisfied as follows:

Literacy

EITHER

An E grade or better in any one of AS English Language, Language and Literature in English or Literature in English. A D grade or better will satisfy one of the syllabus requirements of Part A.

OR

As prescribed for University Entrance with NCEA.

Numeracy

EITHER

A D grade or better in IGCSE or GCSE mathematics

OR

Any mathematics passed at AS Level. A 'D' grade or better will satisfy one of the syllabus requirements of Part A

OR

As prescribed for University Entrance with NCEA.

NZ CAIE Tariff
Grade	A Level	AS Level
A*	140	n/a
A	120	60
B	100	50
C	80	40
D	60	30
E	40	20

International Baccalaureate (IB)

Completion of the Diploma (minimum of 24 points).

An IB Diploma completed with English as Language A1 at either Higher or Standard Level and including any mathematics subject satisfies the literacy and numeracy requirements for University Entrance.

New Zealand Certificate in Steiner Education (Level 3)

A completed Steiner School Certificate Level 3, including 9 points in each of 3 approved subject areas, 7 points in literacy (4 writing/3 reading) and 9 points in numeracy.

Overseas school-leaver qualifications

Universities accept a wide range of overseas school-leaver qualifications for admission.

Check university websites for up-to-date information.

Additional entry requirements

- Some courses of study require you to have taken specific NCEA-approved subjects and gained a minimum number of credits.
- Some courses of study require you to have taken specific achievement standards in certain NCEA-approved subjects.
- Some courses of study also have other entry requirements such as a portfolio, audition and/or interview.

Selective entry

- Selective entry might apply to some courses of study, especially for those with limited or competitive entry.

Guaranteed or preferential entry scores

- Some universities use a rank score system for guaranteed or preferential entry into some courses of study, especially for those with limited or competitive entry. The score is based on the number of Level 3 credits you gain with Excellence, Merit or Achieved.
- You may still be accepted into a course of study if you don't meet the rank score but meet the University Entrance standard. Check with the university for specific details.
- Get the right advice: Check with the university to see if the rank score applies to you and how to calculate your score for that university.

Targeted entry pathways

Some universities have special entry pathways for specific student groups – e.g. Māori, Pacific and students with disabilities.

OTHER ADMISSION PATHWAYS

University preparation courses

Universities and other providers offer university preparation courses for students without University Entrance or an equivalent qualification.

Check with the university to see which courses it accepts as a suitable entry qualification.

If you didn't get University Entrance this may be an option for you! Contact the university to find out more.

University Academic Calendars

A university's Academic Calendar contains a record of all the university's regulations, policies and course information for the academic year.

Even if you've started your study, you can move to another institution!

Discretionary Entrance

If you're a New Zealand or Australian citizen (or permanent resident) who hasn't continued secondary education beyond Year 12, you can apply for Discretionary Entrance based on your Year 12 results.

You'll need to have met certain requirements in your Year 12 results, including a reference from your school principal (or another suitable person), and you may need to do an interview. Discretionary Entrance is only for admission into a specific course of study, not general admission into a university.

Check university websites for more information.

Special Admission for students over 20 (without UE)

If you're over 20 years old and a New Zealand or Australian citizen (or permanent resident) who doesn't have a University Entrance qualification, you can apply for Special Admission.

Check university websites for Special Admission application deadlines and what you'll need to provide with your application.

Transferring students

If you're transferring from one degree to another, you can apply to have the courses you've already completed credited to your new degree.

StudyLink

Hoto Akoranga

It's important you work out how you're going to fund your study and living costs. Here's an idea about what you'll need to apply to StudyLink.

For all the details on the financial support available from StudyLink, go to studylink.govt.nz/starting-study

Student Loans – Help you to pay for your course fees (the compulsory fees charged by your education provider), study materials (e.g. books, computer) and living costs.

Just remember it's a loan. You'll have to pay this back.

Student allowance – This is a weekly payment that can help with your living expenses while you're studying if you're eligible. You don't have to pay the money back BUT there are conditions.

You can apply for student loans and allowances online. Make sure you have:

- RealME account to apply online and access your My StudyLink.
- RealME verified identity.

The documents you'll need to provide for a RealME account include evidence of:

- Who you are (birth certificate or passport).
- Name change if you've changed your name.
- Your bank account number (verified).
- Your IRD number.

If you're under 18, you'll need to supply some additional information.

Parents, StudyLink can only give you information about your part of your child's application (e.g. your income evidence) unless they have appointed you as their agent.

The StudyLink eligibility test is part of the application process. This tells you what you may be eligible for. You'll need to provide the following information:

- Course details (including start and end dates and study break period).
- Citizenship/residency details.
- Income information, if applicable.
- Parents' income information if you're under 24. If you have a child or you're over 24 and have a partner, you'll need to provide additional information. See the StudyLink website for more information.
- IRD number and tax code.

Scholarships

Karahipi

Scholarships are a smart way to fund your study. Depending on the scholarship, you might need to provide the following supporting documents with your application:

- Personal statement: academic achievements, leadership, sporting, cultural and community achievements and involvement.
- Statement about your study plans and ambitions.
- List of accomplishments, awards and leadership positions.
- Academic results (e.g. NCEA record of achievement).
- References – different scholarships might require different types of references:
- Academic reference: supports your academic achievements and ambitions.

• Character reference:

- supports your personal qualities and non-academic achievements (e.g. leadership, sporting and cultural activities)
- identify strong referees for each type of reference
- confirm referees are willing to be contacted for a written reference (these are usually confidential and submitted directly to the scholarship administrators)
- provide your referee with information about the scholarships you're applying for and the closing dates.

You should apply for every scholarship you're eligible for and if you're considering more than one university apply for scholarships at each of them.

If you're of Māori descent, make sure you check to see if your iwi offers education scholarships.

Lots of scholarships are available. Whānau should really encourage their rangatahi to apply.

Halls of Residence

Wharepuni

Halls of Residence (also known as residential colleges) are typically for full-time first-year students. They provide a welcoming community to help you settle into university life.

You'll pay rent for your room and in most cases this will cover, food, power and internet costs. Halls are a great place to get academic support and get involved in social events.

Applications often open around August–September so you'll need to ensure you have all the documentation ready to apply. Places are limited.

In most cases, you'll also need to pay a 'bond' or 'deposit' if you accept an offer.

A deposit will often cover things like the bond, administration fees and activities fees. A bond is an advance payment Halls of Residence ask students to pay as security to cover any unpaid rent or damage to the property.

Halls of Residence applications are interested in an applicant's academic achievements and personal qualities and attributes.

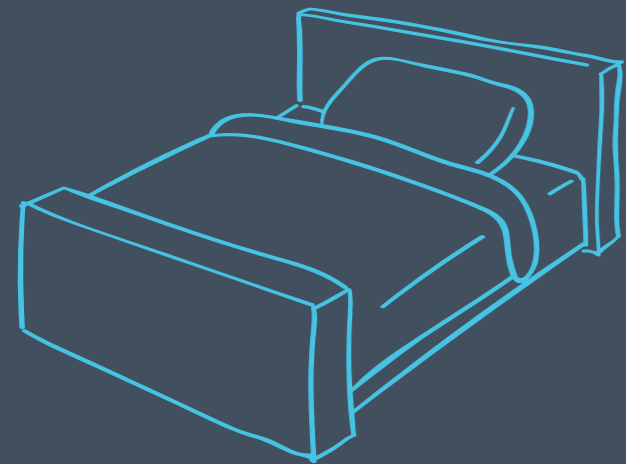

You may need to provide statements and information about the following as part of your Halls of Residence application:

- Leadership, sporting, cultural and community achievements and involvement.
- Your study plans and ambitions.
- Academic results (e.g. NCEA record of achievement).
- A reference from your secondary school.
- Photo – head shot.

Scholarships are sometimes available to help with Halls of Residence costs. Check out the universities' scholarship pages.

Accommodation

You may choose to flat rather than move into a Hall. The universities have Accommodation Offices that can help find a suitable property to rent. They can also provide information on costs, lease agreements and finding flatmates.
